A bronze double dodecahedron will be the centrepiece for this celebration. Created in 2023 by Dutch artist Rik ten Cate, this sculpture is a replica of the Foundation Stone laid by Rudolf Steiner in 1913 for the first Goetheanum.

First shown in Dornach, Switzerland, this sculpture is travelling the world as a symbol of unity, renewal and connection. Its arrival in Hawke's Bay is being celebrated at this event.

You are invited to be part of this International Anthroposophical Experience. There is no charge for attendance, but a koha will be appreciated.

Embraced by the Earth
Radiating to the Spirit of the World is the Foundation Stone.

Rik ten Cate is a contemporary Dutch sculptor, an Anthroposophist and Waldorf teacher. He is known for his expressive bronze, wood and stone sculptures, especially his series translating Rudolf Steiner's weekly verses into three-dimensional forms, a process blending spiritual study with artistic creation, often involving meditation and inner observation to capture moods and gestures in his art.

Activities

1. Exploring the Geometry of the Dodecahedron – Robin Bacchus

The Pentagram is a mystical symbol with an intimate connection to the Golden Ratio, as seen in Greek architecture and Renaissance art. We will draw a pentagram using only a compass and a straight-edge (in the ancient Greek style), then explore its relation to the Golden Ratio.

2. The Pentagram and the Sun of Christ – Margaret-Mary Farr

“At the turning point of Time, The Spirit-Light Entered the stream of Earthly Being....”

During the painting process, we will be working with the different qualities of light.

3. The Saturday Rhythm of the Foundation Stone Meditation – Eva-Maria Steinmetz-Urieli

Pastel Drawing: Participants will be invited to hear, take in and respond creatively, out of their own imagination, to one aspect of the Foundation Stone Meditation, Saturday Rhythm (slightly extended). A short introduction to Pastel Drawing will be given. No prior experience with pastel drawing is required. We will reflect on the collective of your creations to glean insights to the meditation.

Michelle Vette

Michelle is an Anthroposophic Nurse Specialist and Educator. Michelle is the Country Representative of the Anthroposophical Society in New Zealand. This work takes her across the diversity of Anthroposophic activity and initiative in our country and in the international context. Understanding and supporting the shape and place of Michaelic impulses in our individual destinies and collaborations forms the basis of her work.

To resolve our past, we require knowledge,

To forge our future, we need courage,

To experience the present, we must develop dedication.

Our thinking needs riddles to wake up, Our feeling needs pain to mature,

Our willing needs resistance to become strong.
